locally, for domestic consumption. These commodities are certain hydrocarbon oil (motor spirit, aircraft spirit and light diesel oil), liquor with alcoholic strength more than 30 per cent by volume, methyl alcohol and tobacco (except smokeless tobacco and alternative smoking products). The supply and storage of duty-free ships' stores and aircraft stores are also under the control of the C&ED. Licences are issued to those who import, export, manufacture or store dutiable commodities. The C&ED also assesses the taxable value of motor vehicles, for the purpose of calculating the first registration tax payable under the Motor Vehicles (First Registration Tax) Ordinance.

The C&ED is committed to fighting against illicit cigarette activities and revenue fraud offences of other dutiable goods. The department will continue its risk assessment and intelligence analysis for interception at source as well as through its multi-pronged enforcement strategy targeting storage, distribution and peddling to combat illicit activities in relation to dutiable goods.

Prevention and Detection of Smuggling: The C&ED prevents and detects smuggling activities under the Import and Export Ordinance; enforces the licensing controls on prohibited articles by inspecting cargoes imported and exported by air, sea and land; processing passengers and their baggage at entry/exit points, and searching aircraft, vessels and vehicles entering and leaving Hong Kong. The Syndicate Crimes Investigation Bureau is specially tasked to combat sophisticated international organised smuggling and other crime activities from a holistic perspective. This formation seeks to trace the command chain of syndicates, and apprehend their masterminds by mounting proactive surveillance operations. Where appropriate, the Organized and Serious Crimes Ordinance will be invoked to achieve enhanced sentences and confiscate assets for greater deterrent effect. On the other hand, the C&ED and the Hong Kong Police Force (HKPF) have been committed to combat smuggling activities in the waters of Hong Kong through the Marine Joint Task Force.

Apart from intercepting the smuggling of drugs at the control points, the C&ED launches proactive investigations and surveillance operations on syndicated drug trafficking activities throughout Hong Kong. The department also deploys drug detector dogs and makes use of advanced technology, such as Mobile X-ray Vehicle Scanning Systems and Vehicle X-ray Inspection Systems, to enhance enforcement effectiveness. In addition, the department closely monitors the trend of drug abuse and cross-boundary drug crime.

The department also enforces a licensing system to control the import, export and dealing of 36 specific precursor chemicals which can be used for the manufacture of dangerous drugs. It exchanges intelligence and co-
