Religious freedom is one of the fundamental rights enjoyed by Hong Kong residents. It is protected by the Basic Law and other relevant legislation. There is a large variety of religious groups in the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region, including Buddhism, Taoism, Confucianism, Christianity, Islam, Hinduism, Sikhism and Judaism. All of these groups have a considerable number of adherents. Apart from offering religious instructions, many major religious bodies have established schools and provided health and welfare facilities.

Buddhism
Buddhism was introduced into China from India more than 2,000 years ago. It is one of the main religions in Hong Kong, with about 1 million followers and more than 400 temples, some over 700 years old. Notable worship sites include the Po Lin Monastery on Lantau Island, famous for its giant bronze statue of a seated Tian Tan Buddha that is also known as the Big Buddha, and the Chi Lin Nunnery in Diamond Hill, Kowloon, which is a cluster of temple structures built in the architectural style of the Tang dynasty.

Local Buddhist groups aid social welfare and education, operating nearly 100 primary and secondary schools, homes for the elderly and centres for children and youths. The Hong Kong Buddhist Association seeks to propagate Buddhist teaching and culture and provide charitable services to the public. The association runs 11 secondary schools, seven primary schools, eight kindergartens, a hospital and six Chinese medicine service units.

The major Buddhist festival takes place on Buddha’s birthday, which falls on the eighth day of the fourth month in the lunar calendar and is a statutory holiday. The association holds celebrations on that day and organises dharma functions during the Ching Ming Festival.

Taoism
Taoism is an indigenous religion of China with a 2,000-year history. Hong Kong has over 1 million followers and more than 300 Taoist abbeys and temples.

The Hong Kong Taoist Association, set up by representatives of major temples in 1961, is a non-profit-making charity. It organises religious, cultural and charitable activities to promote Taoist scriptures and moral values. These activities include the annual Taoist Day held on the second Sunday of March to celebrate the birthday of the deity Taishang Laojun, or Laozi, whom Taoists believe is the founder of Taoism and author of Tao Te Ching, the main Taoist text dated to the late 4th century BC. Worshippers also mark the triennial Taoist Blessing Ceremony on the 15th day of the 10th lunar month and attend religious lectures and tai chi classes.

Educational, social and charitable services include running more than 40 schools and kindergartens and subsidising tertiary-level courses. Taoists operate clinics, homes for the elderly, care homes, child care centres and community service centres in Hong Kong.

Confucianism
Confucianism, originating in China, is a set of religious, ethical and philosophical teachings derived from ancient Chinese philosopher Confucius (Kongzi, 551-479 BC) that emphasises the importance of morals, tradition and rites. The Analects, a record of Confucius’s words, acts and teachings, is the main text edited by his followers.

Confucian values are introduced in local primary, secondary and university teaching through the advocacy of the Confucian Academy, founded in 1930. The academy incorporates principles of Confucianism in the curricula of its own Confucian Tai Shing schools. Local Confucian groups promote education and organise charitable activities

Other local Confucian organisations include the Hong Kong Confucianism Association and Confucius Hall. The major Confucian festival takes place on Confucius’s birthday, which falls on the 27th day of the eighth month in the lunar calendar. The academy celebrates Confucian Day on the day following the Mid-Autumn Festival.

Christianity
The Christian community numbers about 1.3 million, most of whom are Protestants and Roman Catholics. The Greek, Russian and Coptic Orthodox Churches also have a presence in Hong Kong. There is an annual Week of Prayer for Christian Unity.

Protestant Community
The local Protestant movement began in 1841 and Hong Kong now has about 1,040,000 Christians, more than 300,000 of whom attend church services regularly. The Protestant community is composed of more than 70 denominations within 1,300 congregations which are Chinese-speaking. These include indigenous denominations as well as other independent churches. The Hong Kong Christian Council and the Hong Kong Chinese Christian Church Union facilitate cooperation among the Protestant churches.

The Protestant community runs five tertiary institutions as well as 130 nurseries, 260 kindergartens, 206 primary schools and 180 secondary schools. It also operates more than 30 theological and bible seminaries, 150 publishing houses, 58 bookstores and 55 media and art agencies, which produce Christian Times and Christian Weekly, regular television programmes and a weekly radio show.

The Protestant community runs eight hospitals and 52 hospital chaplaincies, as well as 160 social welfare organisations that provide services at over 130 centres for families and youths, 11 children’s homes, 182 elderly centres and nursing homes, and about 60 rehabilitation centres for drug addicts and the disabled. There are three prison chaplaincies, one airport chapel and around 30 campsites.

Roman Catholic Community
The Roman Catholic Church in Hong Kong was established as a mission prefecture in 1841 and became a diocese in 1946. The Catholic Diocese of Hong Kong has about 395,000 Catholics served by 279 priests, 98 brothers and 419 sisters in 52 parishes, comprising 39 churches, 28 chapels and 24 halls for religious services conducted in Cantonese; three-fifths of the parishes also provide services in English and, in some cases, Tagalog, the Filipino language. The diocese has
Through the assistance of the Catholic Education Office, 249 Catholic schools and kindergartens educate 136,804 pupils. Caritas-Hong Kong is the diocese's official social welfare arm and provides medical and social services to at least six hospitals, 10 clinics, 47 social and family service centres, 23 hostels, 15 homes for the aged and 34 rehabilitation service centres. The diocese publishes two weekly newspapers: Kung Kao Po and the Sunday Examiner. Its Diocesan Audio-Visual Centre produces programmes for evangelising and pastoral purposes, disseminated via various channels, including online platforms.

Islam

Hong Kong has an estimated 300,000 Muslims, according to the Incorporated Trustees of the Islamic Community Fund of Hong Kong.

All local Islamic activities are coordinated by the trustees, which form a charity managing five mosques, two cemeteries and a kindergarten. They make funeral arrangements, announce the dates of festivals including Ramadan, and conduct inspections and issue certificates for halal food in Hong Kong and parts of the Mainland. The Chinese Muslim Cultural and Fraternal Association operates a college, two primary schools and two kindergartens.

The oldest mosque is the Jamia Masjid in Mid-Levels, built in 1849 and rebuilt in 1915, which was declared a monument in 2022. The eight-storey Masjid Ammar and Osman Ramju Sadick Islamic Centre in Wan Chai features a library, a clinic, a canteen and a kindergarten. The Kowloon Masjid and Islamic Centre, with its distinctive white-marble finish, is a landmark in Tsim Sha Tsui. It has a capacity of 3,500 and sees nearly 1 million users yearly. Stanley Mosque is inside Stanley Prison, while Chai Wan Mosque is at Cape Collinson. The cemeteries are in Happy Valley and Cape Collinson.

Hinduism

Religious and social activities of the 100,000-strong Hindu community are centred on the Hindu Temple in Happy Valley, which is managed by the Hindu Association of Hong Kong. Worshippers use the temple for meditation, spiritual lectures, yoga classes and other community activities, and to observe major festivals including Diwali, Dussehra, Holi, Ganesh Chaturthi, Cheti Chand and Hanuman Jayanti. They also perform engagement and marriage ceremonies according to Hindu rites and the Marriage Ordinance. Other important services include administering last rites and making arrangements for cremation and related rituals.

The temple holds devotional music sessions and religious discourses every Sunday morning, followed by a free community meal that is also served on Monday evenings.

Sikhism

Hong Kong's first Sikhs came from Punjab, India, as part of the British Armed Forces in the 19th century. The first Sikh temple, Sri Guru Singh Sabha, on Queen's Road East, Wan Chai, was built in 1901 and later renamed Khalsa Diwan Hong Kong Sikh Temple. It was reopened in November 2022 following redevelopment and features two prayer halls, a free kitchen and dining room, private function rooms, seminar halls, a digital library and a car park.

The Khalsa Diwan, a registered charitable organisation that manages the temple, offers voluntary services, including the provision of langar (a free meal) and short-term accommodation for overseas visitors.

The Khalsa Diwan estimates Hong Kong has about 12,000 Sikhs. Followers of Sikhism founder Guru Nanak Dev Ji attend religious services at the temple every morning and evening, and gather there on Sundays and the main Sikh holy days. Their most important religious dates are the birthdays of Guru Nanak Dev Ji and Guru Gobind Singh Ji (the 10th Guru), and Vaisakhi (the birthday and baptism day of all Sikhs).

Judaism

The settlement of the Jewish community in Hong Kong dates from the 1840s. There are three main synagogues: Ohel Leah Synagogue (Orthodox) providing daily, Sabbath and festival services; the United Jewish Congregation of Hong Kong (Reform) with Sabbath and festival services, both of which share the same premises in Mid-Levels; and the Chabad Lubavitch in MacDonnell Road, which has daily services.

Ohel Leah Synagogue, built in 1901, includes a mikveh (ritual bath). The Jewish Cemetery in Happy Valley was built in 1857.

The site next to Ohel Leah houses a residential complex and the Jewish Community Centre. The centre offers its 400 member families from all three congregations kosher dining, banqueting, cultural and recreational facilities, a supermarket and a specialist library, as well as activities and classes. The community also runs the Carmel School and religious classes as well as several charity and cultural organisations.

Other Faiths

The Baha’i Faith and Zoroastrianism are among other religions that have been established in Hong Kong for many years.
