Regulation 21 & 22 of the Registration of Persons Regulations state:—
21. (1) Subject to regulation 22, the burden of proving the truth of—
(a) the contents of any written application for an identity card; or
(b) the contents of the identity card which are particulars furnished under regulation 4(1)(b) by the applicant for the identity card, shall lie on—
(c) the applicant;
(d) the person to whom the identity card has been issued; or
(e) any other person alleging the truth of such contents.
(2) If, in any proceedings with reference to any decision or act done or proposed to be done by a registration officer under any of these regulations, a person claims—
(a) that he enjoys the right of abode in Hong Kong; or
(b) that he is entitled to a permanent identity card,
the onus of proving the same shall lie on that person.
22. A valid permanent identity card shall be evidence that the person to whom the card relates enjoys the right of abode in Hong Kong.
